A Burglar in a Begnio.

About 3 o'clock yesterday morning Estella Borton closed the shutters of her rancho, 412 Thirtreenth street northwest, which ranks among the most notorious of the Division's resorts of vice, and about an hour later that lady was disturbed by the sound of a burglar, and, gliding into the hallway, she proceeded to make things so lively for the festive burglar that he was suddenly conscience-smitten and turned back, and, taking advantage of a convenient window, disappeared into the courtyard, followed by three pistol-bullets; and, picking up his shoes, he started down Thirteenth street, his actions being observed by the compilalmant.

Police Officer Horne hearing the pistol shots hastened to the scene of the shooting and saw the notorious Frank Burch emerging from the gate of Estella Horton's establishment. Officer Horne followed Burch and arrested bim and landed him in a cell in the Fifth Precinct, in the Police Court to-day the case was tried and the evidence being conclusive Burch was committed in default of $2,000. lady was disturbed by the sound of a burglar, Pounding the Poundmen.

In the Police Court yesterday the mob attack on the Poundmaster by the residents of the vicinity of Sherman avenue on Saturday was Investigated, and the evidence, which confirmed what, has aiready been published, resulted in the following action by the court; John Keefe was charged with ordering the poundmen out of a cornfield, and saying he would get a gun and chase the ————niggers off the hill." A two-dollar fine was imposed for profamity. Mrs. Maggle Long was charged with obstructing the poundmen and endeavoring to polt them with atones. Judge Bundy said that the defendant being a woman he would be content with a five-dollar fine. Patrick Murphy, a young white man, was charged with striking Albert Fortune, one of the poundmen, on the back of the head with a stone, and was fined $5.

John H. Shannon and Daniel J. Moffat, two well-known and influential residents of Uniontown, were charged in the Police Court to-day with disturbing the peace of that quiet town by pounding each other in the public street. It appears that a difficulty has sprung up be-tween the gentlemen over an alleged failure It appears that a difficulty has sprung up between the gentlemen over an alleged failure of Mr. Moffatt to perform a contract which he made with Mr. Shannga. This morning Mr. Moffatt undertook to remove some of the pipe and other material from Mr. Shannon's grounds, and started down the street with a piece of iron pipe over his shoulder, when Mr. Shannon overtook him, and a struggle for the pipe ensued, which was ended by the arrival of the pelice. In the Police Court the defendants were violent, and stigmatized each other as cowards, swindlers and rascals. Judga Bundy dismissed the cases, and referred the contestants to civil courts for satisfaction.

Driver's Garden.

The announcement that the International Concert Company had been engaged to appear during this week and that the Eclipse Opera Company had been retained served to crowd the garden with the cilie of Washington. The International Concert Company consists of Miss Janson, of the German Opera; Madame Delow, of the Mapleson Opera; Madame Delow, of Her Majesty's Opera; Sig. Bardini, of the Strakosch Opera; Sig. Pistra, of the Mapleson Opera, and Master Wills, the boy planist. Miss Janson has a pure soprano voice of great strength and cultivation, and in the grand scone, "Miserere," from "Trovatore," she not alone sang the part magnificently, but showed a knowledge of dramatic culture which ranks her among the first opera singers of the age. Sig. Bastlini's magnificent tenor voice range out sparklingly throughout the det, and the whole ensemble was given in a manner that would do credit to the best opera companies on the stage. Sig. Fistra has a very musical bartione voice, and sang "The Heart Bowed Down" in Italian in excellent style, and Miss Bacott's voice as well as Madbelow's show to great advantage in the concrited pieces. Master Willis is a phenomenoning is but thirteen years of age and plays the most difficult soles with a power and precision that would do credit to Thailberg or Gottschalk.

Theatre Comique.

Another good audience greeted Mr. Aif McDowell at the Comique last night. The show this week is exceptionally good, and should by all means be seen to be fully appreciated.

Abnor's Garden.

It is worth one's time to hear Professor Sawyer on the copophone and xylophone. Madame Beauman, too, and the other artists who hold the boards at Abner's this week are all very good, and should be heard by every one.

Dr. Norris Improving.
Dr. Imii Norris, U. S. Army, is still repidly improving from his recent severe injury, and improving from his recent sovere injury, and was yesterday hitting up in an easy chair. He is very cheerful, and is in such good spirit over the condition of his lajured foot and ankle that he kept it uncovered, and frequently moved it, much against the wishes of his attending physicians, who fear grave trouble will follow from too much exercise of the limb. His recens are constantly through with sympathizing friends, while his sunflewers keep up a steady watch over affairs, though they evidently disapprove juar the same as the medical syndicate of the decionaking so much exercise for a few days yet.

"He read no law," answered the counsel,
"in his whole three-day's argument. Brother Ker heither, beyond defining what,was a conspiracy. They have given us no law at all."
"Well, no such proposition as that has been made to me," replied the Judge.
Mr. Mcsweeney then proceeded to discuss the position taken by Mr. Bliss, when he was checked by the Judge and told that it was unnecessary to waste his strength upon that subject, as he had laid down the rule, although not yet asked to so instruct the jury, that a confession was not bluding upon other defondants than those making them, unless made in the execution of the conspiracy.

Walsh, the counsel said, had made a state-ment that it was said was important. He would not say that the man was a liar, but he would be more polite and prove him one. He told that he went to Shoridan's onlice and met Brady, and with a solemn prologue demanded a settlement. Brady inquired it he had the data. That language was a little high for him, and out West he would have supposed that it was a man seiling dates.

Mr. Blies said in the opening that he expected to prove that Walsh went in and laid own the soid, &c.

Walsh testified that he went in there and Mr. Brady asked if he had brought the data with him. He answered and laid the notes down on the table. The General looked at the memoranda and did not seem satisfied, and thought that Walsh owed him, &c. He (Brady) fold him that the increase in his case had been rom $24.400 to about $135,000. Before that General Brady took up the memoranda and the note. Walsh inquired what he was foling, and Brady answered that he was settling the matter.

The counsel said it would be noticed that Walsh had neglected to put in the petition matter, and subsequently Mr. Bilss was compelled to make an addenda of li, which showed it to be an afterthought. Bilss asked him two or three times, but could not get the right answer until he put it right in the man's mouth. How straight was the path of truth and hew tortuous that of the lar. Walsh had sat in court day after day and had the Judge's decision in regard to petitions. He watched his chance to stop Brady and did it.

In his first examination Walsh falled to say anything about potitions, but testified that he had substantially told all that transpired between him and General Brady.

Mr. Biles, with all his thumb-screw process, falled to get out of Brady, as he goes out, stops long enough to tell Waish that he levies tribute upon every contractor. They were asked to believe him and his story. They could not do it. Nobedy could. Even Walsh himself did not believe it. If this interview had been true why did he not rush out, create a furore, and invoke the aid of the police. The story was proposterous and would not be believed. It was because General Brady was hounded by the newspapers as a thief that he thought it a good time to throw in that story and the jury would be more likely to believe him. When

Walsh Got $25,000 of Fines Remitted

The Court then adjourned until to-morrow.

Arthur's Rip Van Winkle.

Arthur's Rip Van Winkle.

The San Francisco Post is responsible for the following yarn:

"Fourteen years ago, when Chester A. Arthur was a struggling local politician in New York, of what is known there as the custom-house variety, he numbered among his friends the mate of a vessel, named Kennedy.

"Just about that time Arthur made an unsuccessful effort to obtain some minor municipal appointment. The mate condoled with his political friend upon his disappointment, and soon after sailed for Washington with a cargo of hardware. While ascending the Fotomac a block and tackle fell upon the mate's head, indenting his skull in such a manner that the man became practically an idiot, and was placed in the District of Columbia Insane Asylum.

that the man became practically an idiot, and was placed in the District of Columbia Insano Asylum.

"As short time ago the famous surgeon, Dr. Gros, of Philadelphia, visited the asylum, examined the case and straightway performed an operation invented by himself, which resulted in the almost immediate return of the patient's reason, the intervening fourteen years being, of course, a complete blank.

"A day or two after his precovery the mate walked out, and began strolling through the Capitel building. Almost the first man he encountered was President arthur, who was just leaving the executive chamber in the Senate wing.

"Why, how do you do, Kennedy?" said the first citizen, affably extending his hand; 'glad to see you.

"Howdy, old man,' said the sailor. 'How's things? Got a job yot?"

"Well, I believe I have," said the Executive, with a smile. 'A pretty big job, too. You must come up to the White House and see me.

"To the White House?" repeated the amazed mariner.

"Yes, just ask for my private secretary, and he'll show you right in,' and the President walked on.

"Poor old Chet;—clean gone, clean gone,' he'll show you right in,' and the President walked on.

"'Poor old Chet!—clean gone, clean gone, mused the mate. 'Actually believes himself to be President of the United States. Smart man once, too. That just shows you, gentle men,' he continued, turning to the bystanders, 'that just shows you what politics and disappointment will bring a man to. Poor old Chet!"

The proposed glove contest between Ned Donnelly and John Collins will not take place in Washington, the District Police Commissioners having instructed Major Brock, Superintendent of Police, to prevent fights with gloves and without, whether arranged to take place publicly or privately, and whother a charge is made for witnessing such contests or not. The action taken is the outcome of an interview held by Collins with Judge Snell ostersiely to obtain the views of the latter regarding the illegality of euch affairs, and Donnelly and his friends are greatly incensed in consequence, charging that Collins was anxious to get rid of a job which he feared would result in his defeat.

There will be a special excursion to Norfolk and the Capes on Saturday evening next on the stemmer Leary. The rates have been specially reduced to $3 and the opportunity is offered for a spleadid trip.

THE commission of J. H. Ramsay as postmaster at Salisbury, N. C., was forwarded to him to-day, ...

WHERE are the police? Last night about 12 o'clock, near the corner of Third street and Virginia avenue southwest, within two squares of a station house, there was a disturbance lasting for an hour or more, growing out of a difficulty between some white and colored fleepile, and yet no police put in an appearance. The residents were kept in a state of alarm by the threats made by the disturbers of the peace, and loudily called for the police, but none of them put in an appearance. Such a condition of affairs has existed in the locality named for some time. Stone battless are frequent, and it is dangerous for decent and orderly people to live in that neighborhood. Can't THE CRITIC give the police a prodding so they will attend to their duties?

Congressman Jones, of Texas, decided to enter the field as an independent candidate for Governor of the State, and began his canvase last Saturday.

What is Going On in the Social World
The social event of the week will, of course, be Mrs. Ricketts' river party. The Cororan has been chartered and placed at her disposal, and she, after her usual custom, has considered "the greatest good of the greatest number," and has given all of her friends a chance to share the pleasure of the evening. Among her guests will be the Army and Navy officers now in town with their wives and families, a number of prominent officials, and many of the old residents, together with a goodly scattering of the gay young people who have come home from the sea and mountains. If the weather is fair the evening will be perfect, for the pleasant company and the moonlight will be supplemented by music; and good music, too, for the Apollo Glee Club and the Quintet Club will be among the guests, and we all know what they can do. The hours named are from 6 to 10, and, as announced in resterday's notes, the evening sppointed is Thursday.

Mrs. Sherman and her son will leave for oakland today. Miss Lizzie went on Monday to make the cottage ready for her mother, who is much shaken by the recent sad occurrences in the family of her daughter, Mrs.
Fitch. As already announced, the Goneral accompanied Mr, and Mrs. Fitch on their mournful journey West. The family will remain in the mountains until the middle of September, when they will return to their home on Fitteenth street.

The Hon, Mr. Belmont, whose matdee efferts in Congress last winter attracted so What is Going On in the Social World until the college at Kendali Green opens for the season.

Bad news cemes from Dr. Woodward, who went abroad, it will be remembered, for his health. He is at Vevay, and has tailed to rally from the bad effects of the journey across the ocean. His physicians are anxious for him to get to the softer air and more genial climate of the Mediterranean.

The social events at Newport to-morrow will be the receptions given by Mrs. Bruen, Mrs. Dickey and Mr. Russell to the President. He will also be present at the dinners to be given later in the week by Mr. Astor and Mr. Vanderbilt, and Mrs. Baldwin gives a ball in his honor. The three last-named entertainments are to surpass anything that has been seen at the cresort during the season. I would be afraid to give the menus and list of flowers and tollets to be displayed on the occasion, for if 1 did I should be reasonably accused of giving rein to my imagination and vaulting way beyond the truth.

did I should be reasonably accused of giving rein to my imagination and vaulting way beyond the truth.

Mrs. Bruen, mentioned above as one of the ladies who are to entertain the President at Newport to morrow, is pleasantly remembered here. She and her accomplished daughter occupied a house on K street, Farragut Place, for two easens. It was one of the inree elegant residences built by Mr. Shepherd and Mr. Kilbourn, each of whom lived in the row for some years.

Pretty Mrs. Keeler, introduced here as a bride two years ago, is now at Narragansett. Her husband, the lieutenaat, is one of the finest young officers in the service, and won the devotion of his class, '70, by his splendid rowing against the "Quaker Clites," who went to the Naval Academy with the avowed intention of beating their young opponents.

Mr. Low's story, 'Waleria," has attracted so much attention, and is so well received, that he will enter on a series of magazine articles—a kind of work his talent fits bim for peculiarly. The authorship of much of his finest writing is hidden from the general public under the noms de plume he has assumed, and, except among his personal relonds, he has never received haif the credit due him.

Among the familiar Washington faces seen at Newport is that of Lieutenant-Commander Gorringe, whose history, by the way, is a real romance. It begins in the West Indies, where his father, a clergyman of the Church of England, married and seitled, and goes over almost the whole world. It is full of thrilling incidents, and is of special interest to Americans, whose cause the young sailor made his own in the first year of our war. His sister, remembered here as pretty Blanche Corringe, is the Mrs. Hiland, whose husband has recently met with such a horrible accident in South America—an accident which, it is feared, will incapacitate him from ever going on the active list again.

The gay season will begin next month in a series of entertalnments to the Marquis of active list again.

The gay season will begin next month in a series of entertainments to the Marquis of Lorne, who will travel through the country on route for South America. This will make it a month longer than last year, when the festivities began in October with the arrival of the French and German visitors.

WASHINGTON CROVE CAMP.

The Services Yesterday—A Nocturnal Visitor—Camp Notes.

WASHINGTON GROVE, Tuesday, Aug. 22.
Following the immutable law of change that governs all earthly things, the session at Washington Grove draws to a close. Restored health, seefal intercourse, religious converse and the conversion of many who so shortly walked in the paths of unrepentant sin, all proclaim the encampment of 1882 to have been a success, and eager glances pierce the future for landmarks of the meeting of 1883. The preceding is the prolude to the corre-

been a success, and eager glances pierce the future for landmarks of the meeting of 1883. The preceding is the prelude to the correspondence of the closing day when the sorrowful scribe will do the subject tearful justice. The rain of the morning prevented many from attending the various meetings, but was instrumental for good in many directions.

The Services
to-day were better attended than on many days when pleasantness ought to have warranted fine audences. The Garric, after long and exhaustive study, accounts for this unatural condition of affairs by assuming that, cut off from projected excursions to surrounding points of interest and debarred the pleasure of sitting in shady nooks in forest depths, the people gave to the Lord what they could not make profitable or pleasant to themselves, viz., a rainy day.

At 10:30 a. m. the Rev. L. F. Morgan, of Baitmore, preached from the following text, found in John, chapter xvii, veres 3—"And his is life eternal that they might know Thee the only true God, and Jesus Christ whom Thou hast sent." An excellent discourse was given and none regreted their presence in the House of God. The children's meeting was attended by a large number of children and adults.

The Rev. J. A. McCauley

dults.

The Rev. J. A. McCauley
delivered a scholarly address to a very large congregation at 3:30 p. m., the text being "Again the Kingdom of Heaven is like unto treasure hid in a field, the which when a man hath found he hideth, and for Joy goeth and selleth all that he hath and buyeth that field, found in Matthew, chap, xill, verse 44.

The general service at 7:45 p. m. was slimly attended, as many of the tonters were gathering their effects together for the departure on Wednesday night or Thursday morning.

The Rev. Dr. Joseph Franco gave an interexting sermon, founded upon verses 59 and 60 of the 119th Pealm. As an introductory to the address, Dr. France reviewed the work of the session, and encouraged all to believe that flod would guard the results and care for the future.

The Executive Committee

The Executive Committee
held a meeting to-night and transacted the usual routine business connected with the close of camp. A resolution of thanks was passed in recognition of the faithful service of Freelding Elder Deale, and a similar vote to the representatives of the press for the candid and impartial manner with which they had reported the proceedings of the session.

A Nocturnal Prowler.

The camp was alarmed late last night by the discovery of a prowler in the rear of one of the tents on the circle. The "sneak" being alarmed ran through the tent, escaping at the opening in front, closely pursued by the nightwatchman into the dusky shadows of the forest, where all trace of him was lost. There were some ludicrous incidents connected with the episode, but The Carric, like one hastilyaroused individual, draws the tent flap of silence over them. Ata

by the ladies interested in the comfort of the future sojourners in the "grove" it was deeided to renovate and improve the tabernacio.
For this purpose subscriptions are requested, and an opportunity will be given for all to contribute. Mr. Washington Williams has donated five hundred chairs, and this laudable enterprise with so conspicuous an opening will dountiess meet with success, especially as the ladies are doing more than advocate the measure. Mrs. Nys and Mrs. Willett having subscribed twenty-five dollars each.

The Music of the Nession

has been excellent, for which thanks are due the leader, Mr. Henry Wilson, and his faithful assistants. Professor Styce, of Montgomery County, has presided over the organ during the greater part of the session, and his fine ability has been appreciated.

Camp Notes.

Incidents are few and reporters disgusted.
The rain entered a few tents, but caused littile inconvenience.

The labernacle is to be concreted and sheltered by awnings.

The Rev. J. A. McCauley, D. D., is president of the Dickinson College.

Although "country day," very few came to camp owing to the rain.

The bootblacks finding business i dull returned to town to-night in great numbers.

The dust is effectively laid and will not get up again during the continuance of the session.

Tickets are good until the 25th instant. A special train leaves camp on Thursday, at 12 m.

—Mr. James D. Butt, of Harper's Ferry, W. Va., arrived in the city this morning, and is at the National. Mr. Butt is a candidate for the Congressional nomination in the Second West Virginia District on the Republican ticket, and will, in all probability, succeed in obtaining the nomination. It is in that district that two Democratic candidates are running, and the chances are largely in favor of the success of the Republican nominee. Mr. Butt is a young lawyer of marked ability, and is very well known and popular in this city. His popularity in his own State is extensive, especially among the agricultural circles, he having been the farmers' attorney before the departments at the National Capital for yoars. His nomination and election will be grautfying to his host of Iriends here and elsewhere.

Among the institutions in this section of Washington is a "House of Frayer for the Sick," wherein, as the announcement says, "stated daily prayers are said, and in particular cases special applications for the relief of the sick, with an unreserved confidence in the power of God to heal." No medicine is used, only the power of prayer and the laws of hygiene. Rev. William Augustus Schubert is superintendent of the institution.

St. Peter's Church was the scene of two furnerias to-day, the first being that of Mrs. Cornelia Marceron, at 8:30 a. m., and the other that of Mr. Jaspar Smith. Both of them were largely attended by relatives and friends.

SOUTH WASHINGTON.

SOUTH WASHINGTON.

The vicinity of Third street, between L and M streets, has always enjoyed the reputation of being one of the lowest and most dangerous localities in Washington. Quarrels and fights are common and police officers have frequently been assaulted in this part of the city. Only last winter it became necessary for an officer to shoot a rough in quelling a riot. The neighborhood is not so bad nowns formerly for riots, for it is closely watched by the police. But the selled doves of South Washington continue to haunt the locality and ply their impure trade with greater uniformity than ever. Last night, about 9 o'clock, while officers Howell and Branson were cautiously parading the beat together they came upon a large force of necturnal damsels collected on the corner of L and Third streets, interrupting the free flow of commerce and attempting to exact tribute from the male pedestrians. The officers succeeded in capitring Catherine Nolson, Laura Turnor and Henrietta Jones, but several of the others that were wanted escaped from the matine with the swiftness only known to the South Washington, criminal when a suspicion of law pervades the atmosphere. The ladies were gallantly escorted to the First Precinct Hotel and registered for the night.

Much complaint is made at the First Precinct Station of the negligence of the garbage contractor. His stipulations are to collect garbago twice a week, but there are many filthy places in South Washington that have not enjoyed the pleasure of his society once this season, Many alleys and garbage barrels and boxes are filled with filthy, poisonous matter, and need prompt attention in this hot weather. But the garbage man, considering the excellent general health of South Washington, leaves certain localities entirely alone. The alley between Sixth and Six and-ahalf and D and E streets is particularly dirty. It has been customary in the past for the garbage men to remove all the receives a week in hot weather. There were not nears or many complaints under the admin tion.

The flats alongside of the Long Bridge, recently filled in by the Commissioners, are grown over with a dense covering of marsh. There is no fear that the marsh will produce sickness, for it stands above the high water mark, and will dry up in the fall without rotting.

The sloop Addie is being handsomely painted and calked so as to be in readinoss for the fall trade.

Most of the coal now used by the railroads and coal merchants comes from Western Pennsylvania, although the chief supply formerly came from the Cumberland district. The supply from the latter neighborhood is on the increase, but as yet not near sufficient to supply the trade.

Fow disorderly characters now visit the grounds after night. Uncle Sam's "Ginger."
Uncle Sam has reason to tool centented with himself if the figures about his worldly wealth, given by Mr. Mulhail, the English statistical writer, are correct. Mr. Mulhail places the value of property in the United States at a round $50,000,000,000, which is considerably in excess of the two next richest countries in the world—England and Frances. The wealth of England is placed at $41,100,000,000, and that of France at $17,200,000,000, so that the United States are almost $5,000,000,000 worth richer than the former and nearly $11,000,000,000 worth than the latter. In proportion to the population England is the wealthlest country of the three, however, the average for every inhabitant there being about $1,300, whereas in the United States it is but $1,000, Oh! At the meeting of the lodge last week a communication was received from liexeels Lodge last herehren a fraiernal visit last night. The La Fayette members went to work. They prepared a splendid banquet, arranged for the rendering of an excellent musical programme and appointed a committee to proceed to the steamboat wharf and escort the visitors to the hall. A grand recursor was anticipated. The opening coremonies of the lodge were poeting or the wharf for some time after the last boat came in, thinking that the excursionists had chartered, a steamer, returned to the lodge room and reported that the visitors had not put in an appearance. There was a good deal of disappointment, but still twas not knought for a moment that the Washingtonians would fail altogether to meet their appointment. The members still walted, and so did the banquet, and so did the musical programme. Not a member stirred from the hall, and there was not a musical note, Deep, dark disappointment brooded over all, and now and then the silence was broken by a "cuss word." The members that didn't 'cuss" did some mighty hard thinking, and took it out in gritting their teeth. Ten o'clock rolling arcund, the La Fayette nembers with one or two members of Columbia Lodge of the order of Washington, proceeded to discuss the banquet, and soon the great disappointment was forgotten for the time and a most enjoyable time was had.
